The business of doing business.

As we enter the New Year, many litters are on the ground for upcoming events throughout the country. If you are connected to social media, you are aware that many producers have placed pictures and the information on these prospects that will be available to many junior members and their families. In this issue, many of the National Swine Registry members will be showcasing their breeding programs and the prospects available to the buying public.

The promise of a great year for exhibiting animals is in the minds of NJSA members, along with 4-H and FFA members from the east coast to the west coast and from the northern states to the southern states. Never in history have there been more opportunities for purebred Duroc, Hampshire, Landrace and Yorkshire barrows and gilts to be exhibited at NJSA events or NJSA affiliated events. These young people along with their parents, 4-H leaders and FFA advisors make their buying decisions from pedigree information that you advertise. Don't disappoint them by not taking care of business.

When I refer to 'The Business of Doing Business' I am talking about your responsibility as a breeder and seller of registered animals. It is your responsibility to get the needed DNA tests completed on any boars that you breed your gilts and sows to or if you are in the business of selling semen on the boars in your AI stud, please become familiar with the rules and eligibility requirements for each of the herd sires in their respective breed. If you have any questions please refer to nationalswine.com and click on the NSR Library in the lower right hand corner and then check under the Resources section and you can locate the sire DNA testing requirements. The NSR continues to research new DNA technologies to offer you the most accurate and efficient manner to allow you to provide AI certificates on the semen you sell or litters you are registering. Folks, these tests take an average of six weeks to get completed. Make it your business to get your young sires tested as soon as they arrive on your farm. I know six weeks seems like a long time, but it is relatively short turn around compared to the old physical test mating requirement of three months, three weeks and three days waiting for a litter to be farrowed to qualify your sire for their respective breed requirements.

I strongly encourage all breeders to make the business of recording your litters a monthly activity. Mark it on your calendar for the same day every month and create a great habit. Please don't wait until the call comes from the young people that you sold animals to and request the pedigree on the animal you sold to them 60-90 days prior. The NSR pedigree staff spends considerable time on the phone filling rush orders for members who don't take care of business. Get your litters recorded promptly so you provide these young people the pedigree to look at when they viewed the prospects you are offering.

Once these prospects are sold, get those animals transferred promptly. You can't believe the number of calls I receive from disgruntled parents stating, we have called the breeder several times and we still don't have the pedigree for our son or daughter and they have a show coming up in two weeks and can't show in their respective breed class without the pedigree. I hear this comment from these parents, "we are never buying pigs from that firm again!" Get them the pedigree!!!

Folks, you are in a business. Treat your buyers as you want to be treated.

Scholarships

The National Junior Swine Association (NJSA) is dedicated to providing as many opportunities and programs for our members as possible. One of the ways that we constantly strive to improve is through our scholarship program, which often doesn't get the recognition that it deserves. Each year, the NJSA awards upwards of $14,000 in scholarships at the National Junior Summer Spectacular to our outstanding youth. With the scholarship deadline rapidly approaching, I wanted to give an overview of each scholarship. If you know junior members, or you are a junior member that would like some help paying for college, make sure you complete the application and get it sent in to the National Swine Registry by March 1, 2017!

First and foremost, the NJSA works with several outstanding families to award memorial scholarships in recognition of their loved ones. Each of these scholarships are unique and are awarded to members that share the same passions as the scholarships' namesake. These memorial scholarships are the Claude Robinson Memorial Scholarship, the Jason Shipley Memorial Scholarship, the Gregory D. Johnson Memorial Scholarship, and the Mike Cox Memorial Scholarship.

- The Claude Robinson Memorial Scholarship was established by Eddie and Tammy Robinson and family of Wellsville, Missouri. This scholarship is awarded to NJSA members that are members of collegiate livestock judging teams, either junior or senior college. Mr. Robinson had a great passion for livestock judging and his family has chosen to honor his memory by creating a scholarship for a junior member that shares that same passion.
- The Jason Shipley Memorial Scholarship is awarded to NJSA members that are actively involved in both showing livestock and athletics. The Shipley family created this scholarship in memory of their son, and they play an active role in selecting a recipient of this scholarship who embodies and shares the same passion Jason had for livestock and athletics.
- The Gregory D. Johnson Memorial Scholarship was established by Marv and Helen Johnson of New York in honor of their late son, Gregory. This scholarship is awarded to current and past NJSA members that are pursuing an advance degree in swine genetics, swine reproduction or swine nutrition.
- The Mike Cox Memorial Scholarship was established by the Cox family in honor of Mike Cox. This scholarship is awarded to a past or present NJSA member who is an incoming freshman, sophomore or junior for the upcoming fall semester enrolled in an agriculturally related field.

If you don't meet the requirements for the scholarships listed above, don't fret because the NJSA provides several more scholarship opportunities through the Outstanding NJSA Member Scholarship, the Juniors Helping Juniors Scholarship, the American Yorkshire Club Scholarship, the TC Trailer Sales Scholarship, and the Maschhoff's Inc. Pork Production Scholarship.

- The Outstanding NJSA Member Scholarship is awarded to one novice member, one junior member, one intermediate member, and two senior members. These scholarships are awarded on the basis of demonstrated NJSA or livestock industry leadership, scholastic excellence, youth leadership activities and interest in the swine industry.
- The Juniors Helping Juniors Scholarship is awarded to one NJSA member and is unique in that the funds are derived solely from NJSA members donating their show premiums to this scholarship.

"Each year, the NJSA awards upwards of $14,000 in scholarships at the National Junior Summer Spectacular to our outstanding youth."

Thoughts from the Word

Hello one and all out there in Seedstock EDGE land. I hope and pray this article finds you and your families doing well. We have been extremely busy on the road sharing Jesus and loving every minute of it! I know many of you are in the process of farrowing and weaning pigs right now. As I was thinking about that this morning it hit me that those litters were no accident. As a matter of fact, they had been sought and planned for with everything you had imagined. It takes lots of hard work and planning to build the next generation of great livestock for sure. I thought about Jeremiah 29:13 which says, "You will seek and find me when you seek me with all your heart." I encourage you to seek the Lord even more diligently than you seek to breed great livestock. Don't allow setbacks in life to cause you to stop pursuing God with all your heart. I know and believe if you seek HIM you will find HIM.

In Him,

Ray Perryman and family

Stephen Weintraut II | steve@nationalswine.com

NSR Director of Marketing & Communications

I love it when a plan comes together

For those of us north of the Mason-Dixon line, winter's (please check one) ICY SNOWY WINDY FREEZING grip is in full swing. Not only do I not want to go outside, I just want to be lazy around the house and do nothing productive. However, no matter how lazy I feel, right now is EXACTLY the time to think about the coming year and all I want to accomplish.

For many of you, I'm sure winter is also a time where the short days and long nights start to wear at you and make you feel less than productive. But right now is the perfect time to make out your plan for the coming year so you can hit the ground running so to speak. Quite a few of you will be thinking about the spring planting season on top of the normal day in and day out process of raising pigs. It's the extra projects on top of the normal routine that I find the hardest to get going on.

For me, I get all kinds of excited about all the ideas I have for the coming year. My biggest problem is that I can set up my own roadblocks for successful completion of said projects better than anyone else in my life. I have plenty of imagination, just not enough "Ummph" this time of year. That is why I have to make a list of projects that I want to accomplish in a given year. Each item on my list looks almost as bad as some of our health regulations we put in the magazine. Bullet item one, moves to sub-bullet a, which moves to sub-sub-bullet roman numeral — it goes on and on. But without this, I would not accomplish even half of what I want to do.

I believe this goes for advertising and marketing also. I think that a well thought out plan for your advertising and marketing will do a couple of things for you.

1. Help you target specific times that will get you the most revenue generated from the amount you spend of your marketing.

Let's face it, advertising is not cheap for anyone, but if you target your "right" time, your benefit will outweigh your expense.

2. A list will help you stay focused on your message.

Maybe you want to focus on a specific aspect of your business that has not seen the growth you hope for. Or, you see an untapped as-of-yet source of income that you want to exploit. Your message, if consistent and repetitive to an extent, will help your customers know exactly what you have to offer, associate that product with you and tell them why they should purchase from you.

Nothing I have written here is new information. In fact, many of you probably have a list of goals for your business hanging on a wall somewhere. Whatever those goals are, remember to be realistic in your expectations and give them the attention they deserve, and you will be rewarded in the long run.

In the words of John "Hannibal" Smith, of the 80's show "The A-Team", "I love it when a plan comes together!"

"Whatever those goals are, remember to be realistic in your expectations and give them the attention they deserve, and you will be rewarded in the long run."

ASK the STAFF

COMMONLY ASKED QUESTIONS THE NSR STAFF RECEIVES AND THEIR ANSWERS

Q: How do I schedule sale service?

One of the many questions I get this time of year is, “How do I schedule sale service from the National Swine Registry?” I generally respond to that question with several questions of my own. But before I describe the process of booking sale service, I would like explain the different types of sale service that the NSR offers.

Historically, the NSR has offered sale service for live auctions. Many of you have fond memories of attending production sales and seeing a fieldman in attendance visiting with breeders, taking phone bids, working the ring and filling orders for interested parties that could not be in attendance. As times have changed, so has the way our membership markets their stock. We still have live auctions, but a larger percentage of our members choose to market their stock online through internet sales. Now from the comfort of your home, office, car or tractor you can surf the web for your next herd boar, bred gilt, or project for NJSA members.

Back to the original question, “How do I schedule sale service?” My first question is what type of sale are you having?

Live Auctions:

For a live auction, the process is pretty simple. First, contact your fieldman or the NSR office with the date you have selected and check to see if that date is available. The NSR staff try and accommodate all requests, but inevitably there will be some requests we cannot schedule. Once you have the date scheduled and cleared with the NSR office, you will need to run a one page, full-color advertisement in the Seedstock EDGE. The Marketing and Communications department can assist with the design and development of your ad at no additional cost or you can send the ad in camera-ready.

Live Auction Sale Service Details:

- $300 sale service fee for breeders that have recorded less than 100 litters in the previous year OR;
- $200 sale service fee for breeders that have recorded 100 or more litters in the previous year
- Must also run a one page, full-color sale advertisement in the Seedstock EDGE

Online Auctions:

For online auctions the process is even easier. Simply contact your fieldman with your sale date and check to see if they are available. I would highly encourage you to do this a month or so in advance of the sale. For online sales we work more as a consultant or third party. We schedule a farm visit, look over the offering, take notes, and ask you questions about your program. After the visit you contact your sale manager and have them list that a NSR fieldman has viewed the sale offering and is available to answer questions that you may have.

Online Auction Sale Service Details:

- $300 sale service fee for breeders that have recorded less than 100 litters in the previous year OR;
- $200 sale service fee for breeders that have recorded 100 or more litters in the previous year
- Must also forward the NSR field representative’s contact information to the site hosting your online sale.

NSR NEWS

NSR Leadership Meeting highlights

The National Swine Registry Youth Advisory Board and National Swine Registry Executive Committee held meetings in San Antonio, Texas, from Dec. 12-14, 2016. The NSR Youth Advisory Board worked through an agenda of items on Monday, Dec. 12, prior to a joint meeting with the NSR Executive Committee the morning of Tuesday, Dec. 13. Recommendations from the NSR Youth Advisory Board were presented to the NSR Executive Committee during this joint meeting and the NSR Executive Committee voted on proposed recommendations. Below are action items of interest resulting from these meetings.

YOUTH ADVISORY BOARD UPDATES

- Barrow Weight Requirement Change for NJSA Southwest Regional, Eastern Regional and Western Regional Shows:
  - » The NSR Youth Advisory Board recommended the bottom weight limit for barrows be removed at the NJSA Southwest, Eastern and Western Regional shows. The goal of this recommendation was to allow exhibitors more opportunities to show lighter weight barrows that may be heading to additional state and national events following these specified NJSA regional shows. This recommendation was passed by the NSR Executive Committee. The bottom weight limit for barrows has been removed at the following shows, effective August 1, 2017: Southwest Regional, Woodward, Okla.; Eastern Regional, Hamburg, N.Y.; and Western Regional, Paso Robles, Calif.
- NJSA Sweepstakes Rule Change:
  - » The NSR Youth Advisory Board recommended to remove the following rule regarding NJSA Sweepstakes tabulation from the NJSA Handbook: "For shows with a judging contest, sweepstakes points are only awarded to those that are exhibiting at the show." The NSR Executive Committee voted to accept the recommendation, which will become effective August 1, 2017.

NSR EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE UPDATES

The NSR Executive Committee continued with meetings over the dates of Tuesday, Dec. 13, and Wednesday, Dec. 14. Below are additional action items resulting from these meetings.

- NSR Code of Fair Practices Revisions:
  - » The board reviewed the NSR Code of Fair Practices revisions that had been proposed by Dr. Wayne Singleton & Dr. Kara Stewart of Purdue University. After making a revision to the newly proposed guidelines under item #2 of boar collection, the NSR Executive Committee moved to accept the revised NSR Code of Fair Practices, effective immediately. The revised NSR Code of Fair Practices can be found at nationalswine.com under the policies section.

- Digital Swine Pedigree System Seminar:

Bobell joins NSR staff

The National Swine Registry welcomed Jamie Bobell to the team, in February, as the Hampshire/Landrace Secretary and Junior Programs Assistant.

In her new role, Bobell records and transfers pedigrees, as well as attends NJSA shows and assists with their programs and events.

She attended Lincoln Land Community College for two years on a livestock judging scholarship and then transferred to Western Illinois University and received a bachelor's degree in Agricultural Science with a minor in Animal Science. She was also part of the judging team at Western Illinois.

Bobell was raised on a small swine farm. She was in the Illinois Club Pig Association and spent her summers traveling to all the jackpot shows. She also was a 4-H and FFA member. Outside of the barn or office, Bobell can be found out with friends or watching movies.

DAVE LUIS

Dave Luis passed away peacefully on November 24, 2016 in the presence of those he loved most, his wife Clarice and three children, Josh (McKenzie), Kayleigh and Courtney. Dave, 58, also leaves behind his father, Manuel, sister Diane Worley, her children Joni (Sheridan Christensen and children Dominick and Jace) and Joseph (Erica) Worley and his brother, Dan (Dana and children Nathan and Caleb). Dave had a deep love for his mother, Joyce, with whom he is now reunited.

Cancer was no victor in Dave's story. It may have shortened his life, but it only enhanced his impact. A fighter to the end, Dave would never think of himself as an inspiration to generations, but that is in fact what he is. His life embodied simple principles of authenticity, kindness, loyalty, humility, hard work, integrity and above all, service. Dave lived for others and was motivated by helping and bringing out the best in those around him.

Professionally, Dave spent 26 years with the Ripon Fire District as a firefighter, Captain, and Chief Officer. As a volunteer, Dave coached football in Ripon for 23 years and devoted more than 20 years to supporting 4-H and FFA members and their swine projects. Dave's work with the Ripon 4-H swine program was a source of great joy and he always felt honored to work with the kids and help them reach their goals. Dave's time was always freely given with no expectation of anything in return. Because of his decades of service across multiple age groups, Dave has impacted generations.

While we will miss his presence and his trademark mustache, we take comfort in knowing that cancer has no power to diminish his lasting imprint on our lives or the ripple effect of his example. Dave's life makes us better.

A memorial service will be held at 9 am on Friday, December 2, 2016 at P.L. Fry and Son, 290 North Union Road, Manteca. After the service, guests will proceed to the Ripon Community Center for the final ringing of the firefighter bell. The bell ceremony honors lost firefighters and the Ripon Fire District bell bears the name of Joyce Luis, Dave's mother, and 37-year member of the RFD family. As Dave wanted, there will also be plenty of laughter, food, and drinks available at the Community Center.

In honor of Dave, donations can be made to the Ripon Fire District, the Luis Family Memorial Scholarship, and the Ripon 4-H Swine Group.

Brothers Todd (l) and Brett (r) Beyers judged the Duroc breeding stock at the 2014 National Barrow Show, in Austin, Minnesota.

BROTHERS in Business

By Ann Fry

Seven years and more than 1,000 miles separate brothers Brett and Todd Beyers. With those kind of statistics, it would be easy to lose touch or have minimal contact. But, both Beyers brothers agree their relationship is stronger today than ever because of 35 Duroc sows in Sibley, Illinois.

Brett showed hogs at the county fair, but it wasn't until the end of his 4-H career and the early years of Todd's that they became aware of the showpig world. Showing Duroc hogs bridged the age gap between the brothers and gave them a connection to each other. In 2002, when Todd was graduating high school, they decided the best way for them to maintain their relationship was to form an official partnership and raise showpigs.

"When we first started, we just had a vision of doing this deal together. We thought we could get to about 10 to 15 sows and sell barrows and gilts for show projects," Todd says.

They knew it could work, because they had watched their dad farm in partnership with his brothers. So, that year Brett left his job at Somerset Farms, in Indiana, and moved home to Illinois. He brought with him two bred Duroc sows and an open gilt to officially start Beyers Farms.

What the brothers didn't anticipate was the offer Todd received when he graduated from Lake Land Community College. Texas A&M would waive his out-of-state tuition if he would join their livestock judging team. With some encouragement from Brett, Todd accepted the offer, then stayed to earn his master's degree. While at Texas A&M, he met and fell in love with a Texas native.

They married, in 2007, and decided to stay in the Lone Star State.

Todd and his wife, Moriah, now make their home in Abernathy, Texas, with their children, Bryleigh and Zane. The direction Todd's life took was not in the original partnership plan, but it has turned out to be a blessing in disguise. His location has broadened the clientele base for Beyers Farms and opened the Texas showpig market for them. He is responsible for 90 percent of the hogs they sell to Texas by taking orders, making deliveries and being available to answer customer questions. He has also been able to find a few different breeding pieces from the Southwest to add to their program.

Brett Beyers and Family Todd Beyers and Family

Back in Sibley, Illinois, Brett, his wife, Jodi, and their children, Brooke, Lane, Kinley and Keaton, are in charge of breeding, farrowing and marketing the pigs for Beyers Farms. Brett's location allows him to evaluate current popular red boars at several major boar studs in the Midwest, which helps the brothers make their mating decisions.

They maintain a loyal customer base that keeps their hogs in high demand. "It's kind of a partnership," Brett says. "I'll do my job six months out of the year, our customers do their job four or five months out of the year, and hopefully we'll be successful."

2016 Illinois State Fair Junior Show. Todd will always remember Beyers Farms being selected to offer the National Junior Swine Association (NJSA) Foundation Female, in 2014.

Making the hogs that meet the Beyers Farms standards requires a

"I'd like to stay partners as long as we can simply because I like being in business with my brother."

— Brett Beyers

The brothers' vision of working together has remained the same, but the scope of the operation has surpassed their initial expectations. Today, the partnership includes about 35 sows and three to four breeding-age boars they use on their own sows and sell semen to other breeders. Youth showpig projects are still the bread and butter of their operation, but they are also making a name for themselves on the breeding stock side.

Brett will be the first to admit the way they sell their stock may be seen as a bit unconventional for today's showpig market. Most of the pigs are marketed off the farm, and several are sold sight unseen, at certain times of the year.

Their success started the year after they officially began Beyers Farms, when Todd showed the Reserve Champion Bred-and-Owned Duroc Gilt at the 2003 National Junior Summer Spectacular (NJSS). Several hogs with the BEYE herdmark have made their way to the winner's circle at the World Pork Expo (WPX) Jr. National and NJSS since then, including the Reserve Grand Champion Overall Purebred Barrow at the 2010 WPX Jr. National, the Reserve Grand Champion Overall Purebred Gilt at the 2010 NJSS and Reserve Grand Champion Overall Purebred Barrow at the 2012 NJSS. One of the highlights for Brett was when a barrow they raised was named Grand Champion Land of Lincoln and a littermate gilt was named Grand Champion Gilt at the lot of research and planning before the pigs hit the ground. The brothers believe each sow should have the best mating they can give her. They don't just select one boar to use on a group of sows. Instead, they spend hours considering each individual sow on the farm and choosing a boar they think will do the best job for her. They also do a lot of repeat matings. If the brothers decide on a mating and the first litter is good, 90 percent of the time that same mating will be done the next breeding season.

The Beyers' mindset is to make every litter count. With their relatively small sow herd and growing customer base, each litter has to yield more than one or two of the elite ones Beyers Farms has built a reputation for.

"Our goal is, if we've got eight or 10 pigs in a litter, we want that litter to yield six or eight marketable pigs," Brett says. "We built our program by trying to have as consistent of a product as we possibly can, not focusing on trying to make that one extreme animal. We want to make sure our hogs have an impact through depth and quality."

With as many hours put into making breeding decisions, it should be no surprise genetics would be at the top of the list when it comes to selecting replacement females. Gilts from the deepest litters and most consistent sows get kept. They will be the ones to produce the next deep set of pigs and keep Beyers Farms where they need to be for their customers.

"Our goal is not necessarily to be the biggest herd, but to be as deep in quality as anyone to supply our customer base. Maybe our hogs aren't as extreme as some people would like from a breeding perspective, but if we stick with the females that work for us we will hopefully hit the pendulum when it swings both ways. You have to be able to adjust to what the industry is demanding, but I like for our sows to be in a spot where we're one mating away from where we need to be," Brett says.

Phenotypically, both brothers agree structure and balance are top priorities for their hogs.

"It doesn't matter if it's the show ring or the breeding pen, our philosophy has always been to build them right at the ground first. Then we want them to be balanced and look like a showpig," Todd says. "With our number one marketing opportunity being the show ring and youth projects, we really have to focus and make sure our animals are able to diversify themselves from the rest of the population through their extra drive and balance."

The Beyers brothers' love for red hogs falls shortly below their love for God and their families. They spend hours on the phone with each other discussing Duroc hogs. That connection, along with a lot of trust in each other, has been able to keep their partnership and relationship going despite the long distance.

"Our partnership has honestly probably made our relationship that much better, because if we didn't trust each other we wouldn't be able to make it work. We're probably as close now as we've ever been," Todd says.

Todd also appreciates the relationships and friendships he and Brett have developed throughout their years in the showpig business. Several members of the industry including Jon Althaus, Bruce Engnell, Scott Hardman, Lyle Dorjahn, Carl Stein and Doug Stewart have made an impact on the brothers' lives and their business.

"It's amazing the number of people we've had the opportunity to come in contact with. That's something about this business, until you're in it, I don't think you can really understand where those relationships can take you and how they impact and shape your life," Todd says. "That's why we decided to raise our kids the way we have and provide them the same opportunities we had to develop relationships that will last them a long time."

When it comes to the future of Beyers Farms, Brett knows the long-distance partnership may need to be reevaluated, especially as the next generation of Beyers gets more involved. But, for now, he sees no need to change the good thing they have going.

"All in all, it works very well for us. I like being able to call Todd and bounce ideas off of him, and he does the same with me. At the end of the day, it keeps us closer as brothers than if we were on our own," Brett says. "I'd like to stay partners as long as we can simply because I like being in business with my brother."

"That's why we decided to raise our kids the way we have and provide them the same opportunities we had to develop relationships that will last them a long time."

QUIZ

BREED

ELIGIBILITY

One of the primary responsibilities of any purebred livestock association is to uphold established breed eligibility standards. It is the responsibility of breeders and exhibitors of purebred swine to make sure each animal meets it's respective breed eligibility standards.

In the case of the National Swine Registry, different breed standards apply for the recording and exhibition of Duroc, Hampshire, Landrace and Yorkshire breeding and market animals. The following scenarios and pictures highlight instances of breed or show eligibility issues. For a complete list of NSR breed eligibility requirements, please visit the following webpage: nationalswine.com/pedigree\_services/breed\_eligibility.php

**Pictures have been altered for educational purposes only.*

Q: Travis Johnson has purchased a Duroc barrow to show at the NJSA Southeast Regional in Perry, Ga. While at the show, an NSR Fieldman informs Travis that his Duroc barrow does not meet breed eligibility standards and will have to be exhibited as a crossbred barrow. What do you see in the picture that makes this Duroc barrow ineligible for registration and exhibition as a purebred?

Q: Sara Taylor is 10 years old and farrowed her first Duroc litter after retaining a gilt she exhibited at her county fair. She selects her favorite female from this litter as her Duroc show gilt for 2017. While at a spring jackpot show, a family friend informs Sara that her gilt may not meet breed eligibility standards to be recorded and shown as a purebred gilt. What is evident in the picture that prevents this gilt from being eligible for registration and exhibition as a purebred?

Q: Justin Thompson is showing at the NJSA Western Regional. An NSR staff member approaches Justin and informs him that his Hampshire barrow does not meet breed eligibility standards to retain a pedigree and show as a purebred Hampshire barrow. His barrow is moved to show in the crossbred barrow show and the animal's pedigree is cancelled. What breed eligibility issue prevents this barrow from retaining a pedigree and showing as a purebred?

Q: Katie Smith takes her Hampshire gilt and her pedigree up to breed eligibility checks during the Indiana State Fair. Upon inspection, a breed representative informs Katie that her purebred Hampshire gilt is ineligible to show in the purebred Hampshire breeding gilt class. However, she is informed that her gilt can keep her pedigree and also may still record purebred Hampshire litters, in the future, if put back into the sow herd. Why is she ineligible for exhibition as a Hampshire breeding gilt?

Q: Meg Meyers is headed to the NJSA Eastern Regional with a Landrace and Duroc gilt. As Meg's Landrace gilt settles into her pen at the Erie County Fairgrounds, Meg notices something about her gilt that catches her attention. She then realizes that her gilt will not be eligible to show in the Landrace show. What did Meg see that prevented this gilt from being eligible for recording and exhibition as a purebred Landrace?

Q: Beth Patterson

to show her

Landrace
barrow at the World
Pork Expo Jr. National.

Although she has had no previous issues with her barrow's breed character, she becomes concerned when his appearance changes after he has been in the sun for longer periods of time. What has Beth noticed that may prevent her barrow from being eligible to retain a pedigree and show as a purebred Landrace barrow?

Q:

While viewing a set of online sale pigs from a local breeder,
Jason Martin finds a Yorkshire barrow that catches his eye.
Upon asking about this Yorkshire barrow's pedigree, the breeder informs Jason that this barrow does not meet breed eligibility requirements and he will not be offered for sale. What did the breeder identify that would prevent this barrow from keeping a pedigree and showing as a purebred Yorkshire barrow?

Q: While at a pig sale on March 18, Tom Lewis finds a Yorkshire gilt he'd like to purchase to show at the National Junior Summer Spectacular. Visually, she meets all breed eligibility requirements to show as a purebred Yorkshire female. He looks at the gilt's pedigree and realizes that he would be eligible to show her at the World Pork Expo Jr. National, but not the National Junior Summer Spectacular. What did Tom identify on this gilt's pedigree that would prevent her from showing in Louisville in July?

DUROC BARROW

Travis' Duroc barrow had his pedigree cancelled and was ineligible to show as a purebred Duroc because he was found to have white hair above the hoof line of his front foot. This violates the following rule for Duroc registration: "Must NOT have any white hair located on the animal"

DUROC GILT

After identifying the black spot on her gilt, Sara measured the spot and realized it was larger than what is acceptable to be registered. This gilt violated the following rule for Duroc registration: "Must NOT have more than three black spots on the skin, and none of these spots can be larger than two inches in diameter."

HAMPSHIRE BARROW

Justin's barrow was determined to have a white spot on its forehead, therefore, violating the following rule for Hampshire registration: "Must NOT have any white hair or indications of streaking on the forehead."

HAMPSHIRE GILT

Not only was Katie's gilt determined to be an off-belt, as her belt did not fully encircle her body, but she also had too much white hair above her right hock. Based on breed eligibility rules, her gilt is not eligible to show as a Hampshire breeding gilt, but may keep her pedigree. The following rules for breeding gilt exhibition apply in this case: "Must be black in color with a white belt totally encircling the body, including both front legs and feet" AND "white is allowed on the rear legs as long as it does NOT

LANDRACE GILT

When Meg's gilt laid on her side, Meg noticed that her gilt did not have six "functional" teats on both sides of her underline. Therefore, the following requirement was not met: "Must have at least six functional udder sections on each side of the underline. Pin teats and inverted nipples are not considered functional."

LANDRACE BARROW

After having access to the sun, it's likely that the dark pigmentation shown in the picture appeared on Beth's barrow. The following Landrace eligibility requirements would prevent this barrow from keeping a pedigree and showing as a Landrace barrow: "Must NOT allow more than three spots of skin pigmentation OR Must NOT allow any spot of skin pigmentation larger than one U.S. minted quarter."

YORKSHIRE BARROW

The breeder of this Yorkshire barrow made the right call by not offering him for sale to Jason or other buyers because the barrow was born with an extra dewclaw. This violates the following requirement for any of the NSR breeds: "Must have no evidence of an extra dewclaw."

YORKSHIRE GILT

Although this gilt has no issues that would affect her breed eligibility, Tom has identified that the farrowing date of November 28, 2016 is outside of the farrowing date requirement: "Must be farrowed on or after December 1, 2016 to be shown at the National Junior Summer Spectacular."

Q&A: STOCK SHOWS

Why do shows drug test animals?

The National Junior Swine Association (NJSA) has two primary goals for our drug testing program. First and foremost, we focus on maintaining food chain integrity and upholding a strong commitment to protecting the pork industry. Secondly, we want to hold our exhibitors to a high ethical standard to ensure a fair and level playing field at our competitive events. We always say our goal is not to “catch cheaters,” but rather protect the long-term sustainability of our organization and the industry.

What are the consequences if an animal test positive for drugs?

It's important to remember that drug testing policies will vary from one show to the next. Examples of violation penalties may include the revoking of an exhibitor's awards and premiums, suspension from future participation over an assigned period of time or even expulsion from all future participation at an event. However, the consequences don't stop there. If an animal is harvested and is found to have a substance that violates the tolerance levels established by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) or is not approved for food animal use, food chain integrity is compromised, packer and consumer confidence may be affected and this jeopardizes the future of the show industry.

What are some key issues with drug testing programs?

I firmly believe one of the real issues with drug testing at youth stock shows stems from a disconnect between show managers, exhibitors and the animal protein industry's established standards. For example, the majority of shows use urine samples to test for the presence of drugs. Yet, the FDA sets allowable tolerance levels for a drug based on edible tissue. For livestock shows, it's unfair to obtain the quantitative levels of a drug in urine and compare that to the drug's threshold set by the FDA for edible tissue due to the variance in how a drug is metabolized in the animal. This makes it hard for show managers that would like to avoid a “zero-tolerance” policy when there are no accurate thresholds set for a drug when testing urine samples.

Do you think drug testing will continue to be a challenging topic? If so, why?

I think that testing will continue to be a challenge for stock shows due to the advancement in testing technology and the wide range of variables that come into play when a drug screening finds a positive test. How did the substance get there? Was the drug a performance enhancer or could it have been administered for animal welfare?

Please explain the differences in testing programs for different shows.

One of the big challenges exhibitors face is the variance in testing policies from one show to the next. Some shows may apply a “zero-tolerance” policy. In most cases, under a zero tolerance program, any substance

BRIAN ARNOLD
V.P. of Member Outreach &
Youth Development
National Swine Registry

found in the animal's sample will likely result in some form of penalty for the exhibitor and possibly additional family members. Other shows may have policies that are specific to classes of drugs. Violations of these policies may occur when a drug is found in a sample that was used off-label or is not intended for use in food animals. Keep in mind that some shows also test breeding animals and market animals. Some shows are non-terminal while others may be terminal. This may also determine why the show has chosen to implement specific testing policies.

How do you think drug testing programs could be improved across all shows?

Having open dialogue between all industry stakeholders in regards to drug testing at youth stock shows is important. Stock show managers need to work to educate themselves on testing technology and industry standards. Shows need to continuously educate exhibitors on the purpose of testing and clearly outline testing policies. Exhibitors need to embrace a culture of doing things right while becoming educated on best practices for animal care. I know some research is currently being done regarding variances in levels of a specific drug's presence in urine compared to other tissues. Initiatives like this will help stock show managers implement more effective testing programs in the future.

If you have any additional information or comments that you feel would be beneficial please add those.

I hope our exhibitors understand that the rules we put in place are for the best interest of all exhibitors, the NJSA and the industry. We really want to work with our exhibitors and have hog shows for a long time. I feel that drug testing is just one example of our continued emphasis on understanding the bigger picture of food animal production and doing things right.

Q&A: VETERINARIAN

What are some of the different categories of drugs that a show might test for?

Antibiotics, steroids, pain killers, cortisones and antihistamines.

Please explain the differences in the type of drugs (drugs approved for food animals, swine, etc.).

Approved for food animal:

Of the drugs that are approved by the FDA for food animals, there are some that are approved for just one specie and others that are approved for multiple species. If there is no drug approved for that specie or the drugs used that are approved for that specie have not worked than the veterinarian can use another drug that is approved for food animals to treat that disease or condition.

Unapproved for food animal:

There are many drugs out there for other types of animals but are not approved for food animals. At times, we might be able to use these drugs but many are illegal to be used in food animals. Serious repercussions can be brought down on the person that made the decision and the person who administrated the drug.

Some shows have different requirements:

Typically, the shows that test for drugs that are not approved for food animals are non-terminal shows and shows that are not 4-H or FFA affiliated. These shows will allow positive tests for food animal approved drugs. The shows that usually have zero-tolerance testing rules that don't allow any type of drug are terminal shows or are a part of 4-H or FFA.

Please explain drug labels, withdrawal times and how drugs should be used.

The label on a drug bottle is approved by the FDA. They contain many different things. The most relevant items that the veterinarian and the owner need to pay attention to that would affect drug testing are the following:

1. The withdrawal time: This is the amount of time that it takes after an approved drug is given for the drug to clear from the animal and be below a maximum residue limit.
2. Indications: This is a statement on the bottle that says how the medicine is to be used and what diseases or conditions that the drug is approved to treat.
3. Dosage and Administration: Dosage is the amount of the drug that is supposed to be administered per body weight. For example: 1cc per 50 pounds. This is very important to follow because there has been a lot of research done to determine the proper level in the body for it to work the best. The administration tells the user how to give it. For example: intramuscular, subcutaneously, orally, etc. This is also extremely important, if given the wrong way than some drugs will not work properly. If the dosage and administration is not followed correctly this can extend the withdrawal time and/or increase the amount of time an animal may test positive at a show.

DR. DANIEL HENDRICKSON
Four Star Veterinary Services

What are some of the main issues regarding zero-tolerance testing programs?

Even though zero-tolerance keeps the testing program for a show very black and white, I feel it also has some flaws. There are certain drugs that are not approved for food animals that absolutely should be zero-tolerance. The issue with zero-tolerance testing is that many times the drugs can still be found in the urine even though the proper withdrawal times have been followed. The withdrawal times are set so the amount of the drug in the meat is below a maximum residue limit and not when the drug can no longer be tested in the animal. Testing today compared to when most of the withdrawal times were determined have become so much more precise that we can find levels that we have never been able to find before.

How do you think drug testing programs could be improved across all shows?

The reason that showing started in the beginning was for breeders to display their animals to prospective clients that may buy their genetics to produce market animals. Even though this has changed over the years it is still very important that we keep this in the back of our minds. The sole reason that these animals are produced is for meat production. The reason that I bring all this up is that when we make these shows zero-tolerance we are holding these exhibitors to a higher level than we are the close to 150 million market hogs that are sold each year. Again, there are many drugs that are not approved for food animals that must be zero-tolerance to protect the consumer. I feel that their needs to be major research done to determine levels in the animal that will be tolerated at a show. These levels should be near the maximum residue limit set by the FDA that determine withdrawal times. At these levels, it is obvious that the exhibitor did not use that drug for performance enhancement, but for treatment of that animal for a certain condition. Zero-tolerance is pushing exhibitors to a point that many animals are not being medicated the way they should because they are so afraid of the test finding something. As the show industry moves forward, I feel that testing for the terminal shows must become more standardized around the country. As a veterinarian, we get a large amount of phone calls asking what shows will test for and what can they use to treat a sick or lame animal that will not get them in trouble. With all the different testing that happens at the different shows it is very difficult to make decisions we know are the best thing for the animal because of the fear of getting the exhibitor in trouble.

Q&A: TESTING LAB

Please explain the differences between qualitative and quantitative testing.

A qualitative test refers to the confirmation that a drug is present in an animal's system at an unknown concentration (i.e. "presence or absence"). Certain drugs are not allowed to be present in a show animal's system. A qualitative test is adequate to detect these drugs because concentration is irrelevant.

A quantitative test uses known calibrators to measure how much of a drug is present in an animal's system. Certain drugs have therapeutic advantages and may be used to treat an illness or other medical ailments, and therefore may be allowed in a show animal, up to a certain concentration. However, at certain levels these drugs can be considered performance-enhancing. Quantitative testing can distinguish if the presence of a drug is in the therapeutic range or if the quantity exceeds the show's limitations.

Please explain the differences in how a substance may appear in an animal's system from muscle tissue compared to urine.

When a drug is administered to an animal it is distributed to the body's tissues, which includes the muscle. Muscle tissue can have a high affinity for certain drugs which can cause the drug to accumulate. Additionally, drug accumulation in muscle tissue can occur as a result of intramuscular injection at or near the injection site. The primary route of elimination for many drugs is via the kidney. Therefore, drug residues detected in urine are those that are being removed from the animal's body.

Please explain how the FDA creates MAT levels for tissue but not urine samples.

In order to protect the consumer, the FDA establishes tolerances for many drug residues in edible products of food producing animals. Because drug residues in urine are not a food safety concern, tolerances have not been established by the FDA, for urine samples. Many shows adopt a "zero-tolerance" policy for drug residues in urine. Certainly this type of policy is warranted for illicit drugs and drug residues detected in unapproved animal species. Scientific research needs to be conducted to better understand drug residues in urine so that livestock shows can make informed decisions with regards to creating policies and how to interpret drug testing results.

How do you think drug testing programs could be improved across all shows?

One important area that can be improved across all shows is maintaining chain of custody and sample integrity from the time the sample is collected until it is received by the testing laboratory. Shows need to minimize opportunities for sample contamination. Improper chain of custody can nullify a positive test result. Shows should make every effort to ensure samples are received by the laboratory in the best condition possible. Samples should arrive chilled, labeled and properly sealed with evidence tape.

If you have any additional information or comments that you feel would be beneficial please add those.

Drug testing, whether in animals or humans, is an ever-changing field. Advances in science and drug testing platforms are continuous. It is imperative that the drug testing laboratories and livestock shows work together to develop and maintain a sound and effective program. Communication and education are the primary components that create a successful drug testing program.

Q&A: MEATS INDUSTRY

From a food safety and quality standpoint, why is it important to drug test animals?

Food safety is critically important and top of mind for many consumers. Today, people are much more cognizant of making healthy decisions based on their own knowledge and/or interpretation of the meat industry. Because of this, food safety ends up the main driver behind the Veterinary Feed Directive (VFD), which requires veterinarians to write a prescription for many antibiotics we utilize through feed. Our commercial hog producers in the United States are scrutinized daily, in regards to animal husbandry and health practices. They are required to meet standards based off The Pork Quality Assurance (PQA) Program and The Common Swine Industry Audit. Families who own and show livestock that never enter a commercial scenario are held to the same standards as our commercial counterparts.

Pork Procurement
JBS Swift

From a food safety and quality standpoint, what are the consequences if an animal that tested positive for drugs enters the food chain?

The consequences can be dire. Depending on where in the food chain a tainted carcass is found can result in a multitude of issues, from packer/retailer relations to impacting trade with foreign countries. One thing the show industry does not want to be responsible for is affecting our export relationships negatively. The export market is a major key to the sustainability of U.S. hog production. Although the industry primarily focuses on the domestic market, exports will continue to be a focus as production increases and new packing plants come online.

Please explain the food chain process and the importance of food chain integrity.

The food chain process is incredibly sophisticated, relying on efficiency from receiving hogs to boxing product. The industry, on average, harvests 2.3 million hogs per week. Quick math indicates little room for error as many plants have the capacity to harvest upwards of 1,000 head every hour. Upon harvest, pigs enter the cooler and are boxed for delivery. The end product will enter the United States food chain or will be exported to other markets. When a consumer sees “fresh pork” at a meat counter, it is just that. Farm to fork turnaround time can be very quick.

How do you think drug testing programs could be improved across all shows?

From what I understand, drug testing procedures differ from one show to another. While it isn't necessary to create an identical testing platform for all shows, it is important for both show committees and show families to work toward clean and wholesome family events that exemplify the true intentions of traditional livestock exhibition. A high quality testing policy should maintain clarity through:

1. Identification of clear and transparent testing process and procedures. Show committees need to be clear on all testing requirements. Show families need to make sure they understand clearly, the requirements set forth.
2. Identification of test methodology and whether test is based on qualitative or quantitative analysis. A qualitative test specifies whether or not a substance is present. Quantitative testing indicates the level in which the substance is present in the animal's blood or urine.
3. Transparency in approach taken if a positive test occurs.
4. A clear justification period for both testing officials and show families on further processing of positive test, with time to acclimate around developments brought forward by show officials.

That being said, one area of improvement would be to reconfigure how to handle animals which get sick at the show. From an animal husbandry standpoint, the animal needs to be treated by the show veterinarian as quickly as there is evidence of sickness. At that point, the animal would not be allowed to show because it wouldn't meet the withdrawal period. I think that within this scenario is a teachable moment exists where the exhibitor can show, yet treat their animal. I believe there may be a way to drug test the animal before it is treated, then treat the animal and allow the show to move forward.

If you have any additional information or comments that you feel would be beneficial please add those.

Levels of microbial residues and other analytes in livestock are monitored through maximum residue limits. This list of MRLs, for veterinary drugs in foods, sets out the level of residue that could safely remain in the tissue from a food-producing animal that has been treated with drug. The levels that are considered safe differ between countries with Japan being the most stringent. The MRLs coincide with withdrawal times that need to be followed and understood before marketing all swine including retired show pigs.

Livestock that have been subjected to extra label use of products without a veterinarian prescription, that fail to meet MRL requirements or fail to meet zero-tolerance rules lead to negative press and allow consumers to draw inadequate conclusions to our industry's integrity. The bottom line is every single person that raises a pig, be it for commercial production or show is considered an American swine producer. And every producer is responsible for producing safe, nutritious and high quality pork. Even though there is a despairingly large difference between the show industry and commercial swine industry, both business entities are held to the same stringent guidelines. We are all one in the eye of the consumer.

WEANLING SALE INFORMATION

- A minimum of 50% of the pigs in each breed will be selected for the sale.
- All animals selected and cataloged for the sale MUST go through the auction. Sale commission will be 15% for all animals. If an animal that is selected and cataloged for sale does not go through the sale ring, the exhibitor will be banned from exhibiting at NSR events for one year and will be charged 15% of the average selling price of their respective breed sale. This amount must be paid before reinstatement will be allowed. The exception to this rule will be if an animal has become injured or ill and is inspected by a NSR staff member prior to the sale.
- The NSR acts only as the agent between buyer and seller. If proper payment is made by the buyer in a timely manner, the NSR will make settlement with the seller in approximately 30 days after the sale. In the event of non-payment and/or insufficient funds by the buyer, settlement with the seller will be delayed until collection is secured. If an exhibitor has an NSR account that is past due, funds from the sale of their animals will be applied to past-due accounts.
- This event is sponsored by, and will be managed by, the NSR #AC303D000727.

2017 WPX JUNIOR NATIONAL

Hampshire Sired Crossbred Barrow

DIVISION

GENERAL INFORMATION:

- The Hampshire Sired Crossbred Barrow Division is a NEW division being added to the existing crossbred barrow show at the 2017 World Pork Expo Jr. National.
- The Hampshire Sired Crossbred Barrow Division is sponsored by the Hampshire Swine Registry.
- Participating barrows must be sired by a registered Hampshire boar. There are no regulations on the pedigree of a barrow's dam.
- $5,000 in additional premiums, sponsored by the Hampshire Swine Registry, will be awarded to exhibitors of the top five Hampshire Sired Crossbred Barrows.
- Division Champion: $2,500
  - » Reserve Champion: $1,000
  - » Third Overall: $750
  - » Fourth Overall: $500
  - » Fifth Overall $250
- The Champion Hampshire Sired Crossbred Barrow division winner will also compete against crossbred barrow division winners for Overall Champion Crossbred Barrow honors.
- The top five Hampshire Sired Crossbred Barrows will be DNA parentage tested against their declared sire and must pass parentage testing.

BREEDER INFORMATION:

- IMPORTANT: Breeders MUST provide purchasers of Hampshire Sired Crossbred Barrows with the sire's registration number.
- All Hampshire Sired Crossbred Barrows MUST be sired by a registered Hampshire boar. Boars must be registered and have met all DNA testing requirements with a valid DNA sample on file at the National Swine Registry.
- In the event a Hampshire Sired Crossbred Barrow fails its parentage test against its sire, the breeder of the Hampshire Sired Crossbred Barrow is responsible for meeting all responsibilities outlined in the NJSA DNA policy found in the NJSA Handbook.

EXHIBITOR INFORMATION:

- World Pork Expo Jr. National exhibitors can exhibit two barrows per sex, per breed. Exhibiting one Hampshire Sired Crossbred Barrow counts as one crossbred barrow entry.
- In order to show one Hampshire Sired Crossbred Barrow, you MUST also show one purebred barrow (of any breed). This is the same requirement as the traditional crossbred barrow rule for all NJSA events.
- Barrows participating in the Hampshire Sired Crossbred division are not eligible for competition in multiple divisions (i.e.: purebred Hampshire barrow class or traditional crossbred barrow class)
- Exhibitors should enter Hampshire Sired Crossbred barrows in the traditional crossbred barrow section of World Pork Expo Jr. National online entry form. Hampshire Sired Crossbred barrows can then be designated during World Pork Expo Jr. National show.
- Exhibitors are asked to download the Hampshire Sired Barrow Information Sheet from the World Pork Expo Junior National section of nationalswine.com. This form must be printed, completed and presented during check-in at the show.

For all WPX Rules and regulations, please refer to the NJSA Handbook at nationalswine.com/njsa/handbook.php

Animals not selected for the sale can be consigned to the sale for an additional fee of $20 per head; this must be done by the conclusion of the show. If the animal sells, the fee will be applied toward the sale commission. If the animal does not sell, the fee is forfeited.
- All animals selected and cataloged for the sale MUST go through the auction. Sale commission will be 15% for all animals. This amount must be paid before reinstatement will be allowed. The exception to this rule will be if an animal has become injured or ill and is inspected by an NSR staff member prior to the sale.
- The NSR acts only as the agent between buyer and seller. If proper payment is made by the buyer in a timely manner the NSR will make settlement with the seller in approximately 30 days after the sale.

SHOW DAD

Spotlight

Dr. Brett Kaysen

Hometown: Nunn, Colorado

Family: Wife, Tara; children, Landry, 8, and McKinley, 6

Favorite show to attend: Southwest Regional

Snack food you always make sure is stashed in the show box: Dill flavored sunflower seeds

Suck It Up and Compete: We were eating dinner for our annual stop at the Machine Shed. It was raining very hard and I was running to go get the truck and stepped in a hole because it was full of rain and twisted my ankle really bad. When we got back to the hotel my wife looked at it (she used to be an athletic trainer) and had me ice my whole lower leg in the trash can. I was whining really bad and my kids told me to, "suck it up and compete." This is now our family motto; we even had shirts made with the Kaysen motto.

7th and Grand: This is where we stay for the WPX. There is a sky walk from the hotel to the parking garage. Landry and McKinley were playing Red Light, Green Light and Landry (who cannot seem to keep her pants up due to having no bum) found her pants around her ankles on 7th and Grand. So to this day when her pants are falling down we use the code phrase "Landry.....7th and Grand," and she knows to pull up her pants.

Oh Poop!: McKinley was showing her Yorkshire, Marshmallow, in showmanship. She was working so hard trying to do her best, when all of a sudden she was trying to catch up with her pig and when looking away for a brief moment her hand brushed the backend of the pig and ewwww, poop on the hand! She was about to cry but cleaned off her hand and "sucked it up and competed!" It also helped when Lexi Marek came over to McKinley to kiss her hand (Lexi thought she closed it in the gate.... sorry Lex!), she kissed and it was all better!

EYE, YA, YA.....EYE, YA, YA..... During this past Summer Spectacular we were staying at a hotel close to the fairgrounds. In the middle of the night the fire alarm went off. We had to get up and evacuate out to the parking lot. Now Landry and McKinley can be heard saying, "EYE, YA, YA....EYE, YA, YA....attention! Attention! Do not use the elevators go to the nearest exit stairway, EYE, YA, YA."

STARVING: On the way home from the Southwest Regional show me, Landry and McKinley were driving for hours without food (As a Dad I can drive forever without food and can sometimes forget to feed my children) Keeping in mind that this was Sunday, when I drove through each little town the restaurants were closed or the towns were so small there was nowhere to eat. So as I drove and searched for food they talked about being resourceful. Landry had just finished the book series "Little House on the Prairie" so the talk became maybe going hunting, killing rattlesnakes, and getting water from a small stream. As we were driving through Cimarron, Kan., at the last second before they were about to leave the town McKinley spotted a Sonic! McKinley to the rescue! She saved us from having to eat rattlesnake!

Is there a piece of advice you always give your kids before they go in the ring?: All I expect is your best and give full effort.

What advice do you have for other show dads?: Don't get wrapped up in winning. The skills and experiences that will be gained should outweigh the short term end result of winning.

Bricelyn, MN 56014

This Hamp boar was from our original sow (Zoe) that we bought as a young gilt from Jerry Brink in the spring of 2013.

He came from a litter of 13, with a:
1.67 WDA
1.04 BF
11.4 LEA
at 375 lbs.

$3,100 Hamp Boar, 2016 NBS®

JLM3 Carry On 21-1 x JDB1 Conway 2ND 109-2
Thank you to Power Point Boar Stud, S.D., and Krebs Farms, Wis., for their purchase.

Zoe has farrowed 63 pigs in her last 5 litters (12.6 ave) with 57 pigs born alive (11.4 ave). She is due to Carried Away on 2/17. She is quite amazing.

ATTENTION

THE ELITE SWINE PROGRAM, INC (ESP SHOW FEEDS) WILL OFFER $500 to ALL BREED CHAMPIONS in the JR. MARKET BARROW, 4-H and FFA OPEN GILT SHOWS at the 2017 MISSOURI STATE FAIR, if fed the complete ESP SHOW PROGRAM.

For more details visit eliteswineinc.com for complete rules and application.

APPLICATION DEADLINE IS MAY 15, 2017.

MAIN EVENT MIXER This is the base mix that ALL ESP Show Feeds are built around. Simple, straight forward nutrition that allows you to use your corn and bean meal to make the very best show feed for your show pigs. MAIN EVENT MIXER has all the bases covered—manufactured with the most palatable, high quality protein that pigs simply love. MAIN EVENT MIXER is designed for pigs from 50 lbs. to show weight. Simply put, adjust the corn and bean meal to match the weight and desired phenotype look you desire. 100 lb. inclusion per ton.

ESP ALOCMP 70-18 This is a 70% protein, 18% alcohol product that when mixed at 40 lbs. per ton gives you the ultimate high consumption, most palatable show pig feed for your project. We decided long ago that % FAT doesn't matter—DIGESTIBLE ENERGY DOES!! Alcohol is 1) digested instantly, 2) greatly improves feed consumption, 3) cooling effect (great for summer feeding) and 4) PIGS LOVE IT!!!

ESP 18-4 This is the first show feed in our line up. 18% protein and 4% fat, it is designed for pigs from 50-150 lbs.—barrows and gilts. Built around the concept of high consumption, highly digestible energy and protein sources, it is simply the very best product to start your new project on. NON MEDICATED

ESP 16-5 ESP 16-5 is listed as a finisher and follows the 18-4. ESP 16-5 is an exceptional feed product for gilts being fed for breeding or market shows, especially when a softer, bigger bodied look is desired. Barrows also excel in consumption and growth rate on 16-5. Many customers feeding barrows will mix 8-4 and 16-5 together to maintain the muscle shape on barrows. NON MEDICATED

ESP MUSCLE MAKER W/ PAYLEAN ESP MUSCLE MAKER is recognized as the VERY BEST PAYLEAN PRODUCT ON THE MARKET TODAY. ESP simply asks you to check labels and compare for yourself—no other product matches the % Protein, % Lysine and % Fat. As an industry we know what drives Paylean to work AND what causes Paylean to hurt animals. High Protein, Lysine and Fat softens the blow of Paylean to your project—so when using ESP MUSCLE MAKER you need not worry about hoof integrity or pigs becoming to tight in their muscle shape, WHEN FED AT THE RECOMMENDED RATES, which is a step up program up to 9 grams Paylean/ton. 25 lb. bags or bucket

ESP BODY BUILDER Often imitated BUT never duplicated! ESP BODY BUILDER is a perfect feed additive for adding bulk, mass and body to your pig. ESP BODY BUILDER is an excellent product if you need to slow one down on growth. When fed at 3 lbs. per day along with 1 lb. of feed, usually will render about 1 lb. of gain per day. Another added benefit of ESP BODY BUILDER is how it works in correlation with ESP MUSCLE MAKER. The added FAT % and PROTEIN % works extremely well and has shown that less PAYLEAN can be fed and end up with the desired outcome you set out to accomplish.

ESP "THE GOOD STUFF" A high quality energy source when top dressed at 2 oz. per day will keep your pigs on feed in those dog days of summer when daily feed consumption can be a battle. ESP "THE GOOD STUFF" is highly palatable and pigs simply love it. Of all the energy sources on the market, ESP "THE GOOD STUFF" is the highest in digestibility and has been a great addition to the ESP SHOW PROGRAM.

The best thing
 about memories
 is making them.
